Sympact's systemlink service allows two or more different systems to communicate with each other in order to increase efficiency in your business administration.

Many online platforms have the ability for a third-party system to add data to it, and retrieve data from it. Sympact uses these interfaces (called APIs, or Application Programming Interfaces) to connect your systems together.

CASE STUDY 1: HR TRACKING SYSTEM LINKED TO PAYROLL SYSTEM

Sympact developed a system that allowed a nationwide mining company to transfer hundreds of employee's weekly timesheet data and expense claims directly into their payroll system. These two systems were not linked so manual data entry was the timely and costly alternative.

CASE STUDY 2: FREIGHT MANAGEMENT SYSTEM LINKED TO ONLINE ACCOUNTING PACKAGE

A bespoke freight, logistics and warehousing system was developed by Sympact for a national freight company. This system needed to transfer invoicing and expense data into the company's online accounting system, so a link was created to automatically transfer this data in real-time.

CASE STUDY 3: JOB TRACKING SYSTEM LINKED TO XERO

System developed a job tracking system and linked the job completion to raise an invoice in the Xero cloud accounting system. The system also merges multiple invoices for the same client automatically so only one invoice is received per client.

PRICING:

Systemlink projects are based on the type of systems that need to be linked, so pricing is per project based on the required links and the type of data needing to be communicated.
